CATHY KRESAN

ARTIST STATEMENT

After a career of being a research scientist and a Senior VP in charge of Worldwide Scientific Affairs at a major corporation, I took up art. True to my experimental nature, I have tested graphite, charcoal, pastel, oils, and watercolor. Having practiced art for more than twenty years, I have had the pleasure to experience a multitude of classes and workshops with many local and national artists and I continue to do that with pleasure, forever learning.

My art largely encompasses my passion for nature. With background in the biological sciences and as an active Master Gardener, I hope to bring to everyone the reward and peace nature brings to me. My sources for my paintings include my cabin property in the VA mountains, my travels, and any animal, plant, or beautiful scene that I can find anywhere in the world.
