

Jean Miller

Teacher, Tutor, Reading Specialist, Administrator, Artist. Jean Miller has spent a career in education with the idea of someday finding the time to develop her talent more fully as an artist. She has a BS from Towson State, and an MA in Education and an MS in Reading from Johns Hopkins University. Throughout her career, Jean applied her artistic ability to develop visual materials to support students' understanding, focus, and enjoyment of learning.

Since her retirement, Jean has followed her artistic interests by seeking instruction from well-known local artists and attending classes at John Tyler and the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. She paints in watercolors, acrylics, and oils, capturing the subjects she loves or those that excite her visually or challenge her ability. As a representational artist she attempts to enhance her subjects using color and light. Her paintings consist of landscapes, still life, flowers, and portraitures. She is an exhibiting member of the Bon Air Artists Association and the James River Art League, former editor of the BAAA Newsletter and the Virginia Watercolor Society's Waterlogue, and a participating member of the Virginia Plein Air Painters.
